

Lifetime Annuity and Scheme Pension

Key Features

(including Enhanced versions and those for beneficiaries and dependants)

The Lifetime Annuity and Scheme Pension

(including Enhanced versions and those for beneficiaries and dependants)

The Financial Conduct Authority is a financial services regulator. It requires us, Canada Life Limited, to give you this important information to help you to decide whether the Lifetime Annuity or Scheme Pension policy are right for you. You should read this document carefully so that you understand what you are buying, and then keep it safe for future reference.

The Lifetime Annuity and Scheme Pension are annuity policies that use the money saved in a registered pension scheme to provide you with a guaranteed, regular income for your lifetime and, if you so choose at the outset, your partner's lifetime.

You should remember that you may choose to buy your annuity policy from any pension annuity provider. This is called the Open Market Option. You should consider carefully the type of benefits you want and take professional advice if you are unsure, or do not fully understand your options or the implications once a decision is made.

Its aims

- To use the savings from a registered pension scheme to provide you with a guaranteed income for the rest of your life.
- To give you the choice of providing an income, after your death, to a second annuitant.
- To provide you with a range of options to suit your circumstances.

Your commitment

- You should retain the services of a professional adviser as you may need ongoing advice on your retirement options.
- To transfer or use the value (which must be at least £10,000) of your registered pension scheme benefits to purchase this policy.
- To give up all rights in any pension scheme benefits that you are transferring to us.
- It is important you choose your retirement options carefully as once you have started your annuity, it cannot be changed later. We recommend you discuss these with your professional adviser.
- You will take reasonable care to make sure that your answers to any personal, medical and lifestyle questions are given honestly and as accurately as possible.

Risk

- Once your policy is set up, you cannot change it or cash it in, even if your circumstances change.
- Your income will stop when you die, unless you have chosen for it to continue. (Please refer to the section of this document 'What happens to my income when I die?').
- If you take out a single life annuity and die after the policy is set up, and you have not chosen a death benefit (see appropriate section), the policy will cease and no further payments will be made.
- Inflation will reduce the spending power of your income, especially if you choose an income that does not increase each year.
- If you choose to have your income change in line with the Retail Prices Index (RPI) your income could go down if the price of goods and services included in that index are lower than they were one year earlier.
- Income tax rates may change in the future. If you are a taxpayer and income tax rates go up, the income paid to you after tax will be smaller.
- If you provide us with any information that is inaccurate or your doctor is unable to confirm your medical and lifestyle information, your income may be reduced from the start of the policy.
- If you choose to provide an income for a named person as a second annuitant, should your personal situation change, you will not be able to pass it on to a different person.
- Where you have chosen to accept your income payments in arrears without proportionate payment on death, please note that your income will stop on your death, unless you die within a guaranteed payment period.

Questions and Answers

Who is the Lifetime Annuity for?

The Lifetime Annuity may be suitable for you if:

- You are aged 55 or above.
- You have pension savings that you want to crystallise equal to at least £10,000 after deduction of any tax-free cash
- You need to generate a guaranteed lifetime income from your pension savings
- You want your spouse/partner or other beneficiary to receive an income and/or lump sum after your death

When is the Lifetime Annuity not appropriate?

The Lifetime Annuity will not be appropriate if:

- You have less than £10,000 to invest after you have taken your tax-free cash
- You want to invest your money in funds to generate capital growth, an income stream or a combination of the two
- You want to make regular or one off contributions
- You want to withdraw all of your funds immediately in one go.

We recommend, if you have not yet done so, that you engage with a professional adviser to discuss your financial objectives, in order to identify the most suitable solution to meet your needs. Please note that Canada Life is not authorised to provide financial advice.

Questions and Answers

Do I need advice?

Canada Life is an insurance provider and cannot give personal recommendations about the products it offers. To help you decide if the Lifetime Annuity or Scheme Pension is suitable for you, you should speak with a professional adviser. If you do not have an adviser, you can find one local to you by using the following website: www.unbiased.co.uk

Before you make any decisions you should speak to Pension Wise, a free and impartial service set up by the Government, to discuss your options. Pension Wise can be accessed online, over the telephone or face to face. You can contact Pension wise by telephone on 0800 138 3944 or by visiting their website at www.pensionwise.gov.uk

Please note this does not replace the need for professional advice.

What is the Lifetime Annuity (and Scheme Pension)?

- The Lifetime Annuity and Scheme Pension are annuity policies designed to accept lump sum payments from a UK registered pension scheme to provide a guaranteed lifetime income.

How much do I need to buy a Lifetime Annuity?

- The minimum lump sum you need is £10,000 (after taking any tax-free pension commencement lump sum).
- If you want to transfer additional pension savings into an annuity, this would be treated as a new, separate policy.

Is the Lifetime Annuity suitable for me?

- The plan may be a suitable option if you:
 - Want to access your tax-free pension commencement lump sum and secure a guaranteed lifetime income.

Can I apply for this plan?

- Yes, if you are aged 55 or over with savings held in a UK registered pension scheme, or any age if you are the beneficiary of the savings of someone who has died.

How do I apply for this plan?

- You can transfer funds from a UK registered pension scheme to purchase a Lifetime Annuity. We will hold your pension savings until all monies from the transfer(s) are received. We will then purchase the plan and pay out any tax-free pension commencement lump sum entitlement – up to 25% of the amount transferred.
- If the transfers are coming from a drawdown plan, such as the Flexible Drawdown Plan then no tax-free cash can be paid to you from these transfers.
- You do not need to use all your savings to purchase a Lifetime Annuity. You can use part of your pension savings to purchase the annuity and invest the remainder in other retirement income products if you so wish. Please speak to your adviser about the other options available to you.

What type of benefits can I choose?

There are a number of options available under the plan. Please bear in mind that if you choose any of the following options, your starting income will be lower. If you would like to understand the impact of these options, please speak to your professional adviser, who will be able to obtain a Personal Example for you.

- Pension Commencement Lump Sum
 - You may be able to take up to 25% of your existing pension fund as a tax-free pension commencement lump sum. Your professional adviser will be able to explain this option in more detail.
- Income payments

You can choose to have your income payments:

 - remain at a fixed level for the remainder of your lifetime; or
 - increase by a fixed percentage every year (between 0.1% and 10%); or
 - vary in line with the Retail Prices Index; or
 - vary in line with the Retail Prices Index but capped at 5% or 2.5%
 - have your income paid into your bank account on a monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or annual basis.
 - have payments made either:
 - In advance, where the first payment will be paid as soon as possible after the policy is set up; or
 - In arrears, for example if you choose monthly, it will be paid at the end of the first month. Please see ‘Risk factors’ section.

What happens to my income when I die?

Guaranteed payment period

- You can choose to have your income guaranteed for a minimum period of time in months (from one month to 30 years). If you die within this guaranteed period, your income will continue to be paid until the end of the guaranteed period. Canada Life has discretion regarding who receives the income (unless a Scheme Pension is owned by the Scheme) and you can tell us who you would like us to consider.

Payments to a second annuitant

- You can choose to provide an income for a second annuitant after your death. This can be at the same level or a lower percentage, for example 50%, of the amount paid to you.
- You can select that the income is paid to any person who is aged 35 or over (50 for enhanced annuities).
- On a Scheme Pension, if a second annuitant who is not your spouse or civil partner is selected, they must be financially dependent on you when you die for the second income to be paid.
- If you have chosen a guaranteed payment period, you will need to choose whether their income is paid with or without overlap: –

- With overlap – means we will start paying the second annuitant’s income during the guaranteed period. This means that we will pay two streams of income.
- Without overlap – means that the second annuitant’s income will commence after the guarantee period expires.

Annuity Protection

- You can choose for a lump sum to be paid if you die before your 75th birthday. This is a way of protecting your original investment less any income already received.

Annuities for Beneficiaries and Scheme Pensions for Dependants

- If you are the beneficiary of the pension savings of someone who has died, the above death benefits are not available. The policy will cease on your death and no further payments will be made.

What is an enhanced annuity?

- If you qualify for an enhanced annuity you will be able to receive an income that is higher than from a standard annuity. The additional income you receive will depend on your health and lifestyle.
- You could qualify due to your lifestyle or any existing medical conditions or a combination of these. Qualifying medical conditions can include any ailment however some of the most common are cancer, heart related conditions, strokes and diabetes. When we mention lifestyle, we mean whether you are a smoker, are overweight, or have high blood pressure or cholesterol.
- You will need to answer a few questions or complete a questionnaire so we can see if you qualify.
- If you select a second annuitant’s income they may qualify for an enhancement, even if you do not.
- If you tell us about an illness, or are diagnosed with one, after the policy is issued we are not able to increase your income.

How is the premium paid?

- The premium must be paid to us by cheque or telegraphic transfer from the Trustees/ Administrator of your registered pension scheme(s), or from the insurance company holding your money.

What are the charges?

- The costs for setting up your plan are allowed for in the calculation of your income.
- Any charges relating to advice or service payable to your professional adviser can be paid from the purchase money before it is applied to the policy.
- Where an adviser charge is being paid via your policy, these deductions will only be made if we receive written instructions from you (for example on your application form). Please note that if you have asked us to pay a percentage of your purchase money to your professional adviser, this amount will differ from that shown in your Personal Example if the amount we receive from your originating scheme is different.
- Your Personal Example, which forms part of your application, will show adviser charges you have agreed to pay.

Questions and Answers

How are my income and death benefits taxed?

Your Income payments

- The income we pay you will be treated as taxable as earnings under the HM Revenue and Customs Pay As You Earn (PAYE) system. The amount of tax you will pay will depend on your total income from all sources and your personal allowance.
- Unless we receive a P45 from you, we initially use a temporary (emergency) tax code to calculate how much tax, if any, to deduct. After that we withhold tax according to the tax code HM Revenue & Customs allocate to your income.
- If you are the beneficiary of the savings of someone who has died before age 75 and are buying a Lifetime Annuity, your income will not normally be taxable.
- If the UK government changes the tax treatment of this type of plan, the income paid to you will change.

Income paid to your named second annuitant after your death

- If you die before reaching age 75, the selected level of income will be paid tax-free unless it is a Scheme Pension which means it will be taxed at the recipient's marginal rate.
- If you die after reaching age 75, the selected level of income will be taxed at the recipient's marginal rate.

Income paid under a guarantee

- The income will continue for the remaining term and will be paid out tax-free if your policy is a Lifetime Annuity and you die before age 75.
- If you die after reaching age 75 or your policy is a Scheme Pension, the benefits will be taxed at the recipient's marginal rate.

Annuity protection

- The annuity protection lump sum death benefit is paid tax-free.

Lifetime allowance

- The total value of your pension arrangements are measured against the lifetime allowance, set at £1,030,000 for the 2018/19 tax year. Each time you take benefits you will use up a percentage of the allowance. If you exceed the allowance, you may have additional tax charges to pay. For more information on whether this affects you, please refer to a professional adviser.

All information in this document is based on our understanding of UK tax rules and regulation as at September 2019. Tax rules are subject to change and how they impact you will also be dependent on your own personal circumstances.

Who should receive any benefits after I die?

- When you complete the application you should tell us who you would like to receive any continuing income payments under a guarantee or lump sum payments. We exercise discretion when deciding who to pay, so that the payment does not fall within your estate for inheritance tax purposes. You can tell us who you would like us to consider paying.
- If the policy has been issued in the name of your pension scheme, it will be the scheme that decides who will receive the payment, not Canada Life.

Can I change my mind?

Yes. When you apply, you'll have the right to cancel your plan:

- At any point before your plan starts or,
- Within 30 days from the date that you receive confirmation of your plan being issued.

If you decide to cancel your policy, you must inform us within 30 days. To do this you should write to us quoting your plan number.

You must also return any money received, including any tax-free cash payments.

Any adviser charges we have taken from your plan and paid to your professional adviser, up to the point we receive your request to cancel the plan, will be refunded in full. You may still be liable to pay your professional adviser for the advice or services you have received.

On cancellation, we will try to return your pension fund to your original pension provider. Please bear in mind that the original pension provider may refuse to accept the repayment on the terms that previously applied to you, or may not even accept the repayment at all.

If your original scheme will not accept the repayment, you must, along with a professional adviser (if appropriate), find another provider who will accept the transfer of the pension fund.

If you have not exercised your right to cancel within 30 days of your plan being issued, your plan will continue in accordance with the Policy Provisions.
